After teaching school, I began to travel working for a promotional cable TV marketing firm called Bratton Associates. Upon returning from about one year of learning the door to door concept of marketing, I re-entered the educational field as a Community School Director at JJ Daniel Middle School in northeast Cobb County. I began the current phase of my business life around 1981 when I decided to sell advertising in a local publication in the Smyrna community. I believe, and has been confirmed by the Lord, that my basic purpose is to serve the Lord in my daily life everywhere I go. My present business is to incorporate Jesus' teachings and revelations into my relationships with other business owners to grow and nurture our success with one another.

I live in Dallas, GA with my partner, Amanda Jo. We're a blended family with a combined total of 5 kids (3 are mine, 2 are hers) from ages 21-9, and our dog Oliver. I was born abroad in England, while my father was in the US Air Force, and after we came back stateside, I've lived in Georgia, Tennessee, and Texas. Most of my life has been right here in Georgia. I attended Cass High School in Cartersville GA, and graduated from Kennesaw State University with a Bachelor's Degree in Marketing in 2003. Prior to my entry in the Appliance Industry, I was an insurance and investment advisor, and also served in occupational ministry for 10.5 years. My faith is very important to me. My hobbies include going to the gym, traveling, and outdoor adventures like hiking, camping, kayaking, overlanding. I'm also a passionate cook and a licensed pyro-technician.

•PROFILE/BIO: I'm a mom of two boys—both headed to Campbell High next year! I've called Georgia home for more than 20 years, though Grand Forks, North Dakota is where I started. My path here has been anything but traditional. I earned my degree in Paleontology/Geology from South Dakota School of Mines & Technology, studied ancient mammals, and spent my early career at the Field Museum in Chicago before moving into environmental consulting with Genesis Project, right here in Smyrna.

After becoming a mom, I did a career pivot that surprised even me: I traded rocks for people and never looked back. What started as a love for movement became a second career in fitness. I found my way into yoga, personal training, and eventually medical fitness, where I discovered that my background in anatomy, movement, and biomechanics translated far more naturally than anyone would expect from a former paleontologist.

Now at Wholebody Systems, I get to bring those worlds together—science, movement, and helping people be stronger. It's work and a business I genuinely love. I get to see in real time how much better our clients move, feel, and live.

The Taylor-Brawner House

The Taylor House was a part of an area of Smyrna known as Bowie woods. It consisted of three hundred and fifty acres that extended from the W & A Railroad on Smyrna's east side to what is now South Cobb Drive at Ridgeview Institute. Parts of the acreage were sold, becoming Brawner Sanitarium and Pat Crowe's Creatwood Dairy Farm.

The historical significance for Smyrna is that it was at the Taylor House that the first jonquil bulbs were planted. This earned Smyrna the recognition as being the "Jonquil City of the South". Owners, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Taylor planted a burlap bag of jonquil bulbs sent by their son from Spokane, Washington. The bulbs bloomed and multiplied and the Taylors shared the bulbs with their neighbors. Eventually, every spring, the town was covered in yellow blossoms.

The Taylors moved to Spokane, Washington in 1907. Dr. James Brawner bought eighty acres of the Taylor Farm and the four-room farmhouse for seven thousand dollars in 1909. The Brawner Sanitarium opened in 1910 as an alcohol, drug and mental health treatment center and operated until the 1990's.

The city of Smyrna acquired what remained of the campus (thirteen acres) from Cobb Community Services Board in 2001. Their goal is to preserve the present day Brawner Campus for the enjoyment of the citizens of Smyrna.

The Taylor-Brawner House is located at 3180 Atlanta Road, S.E., Smyrna, Georgia.

Compliments of the Smyrna Museum.....

VISITING THE PAST

Twenty five years ago my StateFarm office at Cobb Parkway & Windy Hill Road in Smyrna was partially destroyed by a tornado. I received a call at 3:00am from Sherri Reid a former staff member and family friend informing me after seeing the damages on the news. When I watched the news I could see part of our second floor had crashed down on the first floor. The tornado happened about 2:00am. My staff and I were blessed that the tornado touched at the time when the office was closed.

After some of the debris was removed I could see my desk, credenza, monitor, a few remaining plaques and a few other items. My ceiling fan with other roof parts were blown into the parking lot. The first items I searched for and found was a bag of more than 200 checks that needed to be totaled and deposited. The checks were for the Mentoring Leadership organization BYU Cobb, Inc's Prayer Breakfast. I was the treasurer for the organization. I was happy the checks were not blown away.

The Red Cross is one of my favorite charities. They always seemed to be among the first on site to offer assistance. Please donate to your favorite charity for the recent tornado victims.

Before jumping into the world of real estate, I had the incredible privilege of working as an executive with iconic companies—including Disney and Activision Blizzard in California. From those experiences, I bring a strong commitment to excellence, creativity, and a little "magic" into every client relationship. I've learned that extraordinary experiences come from intentional service, attention to detail, and a little sparkle of joy. I spend intentional time with God daily because I believe that to truly serve others, I need to be rooted in something greater than myself. I grew up in Detroit Michigan. After graduating from the University of Michigan, I was a licensed financial advisor for several years before earning my MBA from Washington University in St. Louis. In my spare time, I enjoy traveling, golfing, and working out.
